No legal action after park train ride death

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

GULLIVER'S Theme Park has been criticised in a Health and Safety Executive report following the death of engineer Hugh Dow.

Mr Dow, of Barnsbury Gardens, Newport Pagnell, suffered massive head injuries while working on a train ride at the park on May 10, 2006.

He had been standing on an adjoining bar between two carriages when it travelled under a low bridge. He died at the scene.

A separate undercover investigation by this newspaper carried out seven months after Mr Dow's death also highlighted 'gaps in procedures' at Gulliver's.

The details of the HSE report were released on Thursday following a freedom of information request by this newspaper.

It said: "At the time of the accident the company failed to discharge its duties under the health and safety legislation in particular it did not have in place adequate systems of work for the maintenance team and that it also failed to assess the risks to which they were exposed."

The HSE report concluded that there was no causal link between the company's failures and the death of Mr Dow.

As a result Gullivers will not face legal action over the death.

The park in Newlands is aimed at children between the ages of two and 13.

It has 29 rides and employs around 100 staff during the height of the season.

On a normal day it attracts up to 2,000 visitors, making it one of the city's biggest tourist attractions

In December, 2006, MK NEWS reporter Rob Gibson carried out a three-day undercover investigation as a ride operator at the park.

A dossier of his findings were also submitted to the HSE which was looking into the incident involving Mr Dow.

The newspaper's investigation raised questions about how staff were employed, trained and paid.

Our reporter alongside the cycle monorail he was asked to operate

Gulliver's death train

Our reporter deliberately missed requests to attend an induction, which deals with matters such as health and safety, to see how stringent the park would be, but found he was allowed to start work without one.

As a result of our investigation, Gulliver's accepted that this should not have happened and as a result said it has amended its systems accordingly.

Gulliver's also admitted paying our reporter in breach of company regulations when he was paid in cash.

The company also said that steps have been taken to ensure no future repetition.

HSE inspector Matthew Lee said: "The report from MK NEWS identified certain issues. Gullivers accepted that there was a gap in their procedures that they have now closed. I was satisfied that they said it didn't work as it should have done and it won't happen again.

"I've been to see them and I'm satisfied that they now have the procedures in place to keep the park safe for visitors."

Following the inspection Gulliver's appointed a full time health and safety adviser and agreed to modify the monorail ride, increasing the space between the car and the framework of the loading bay to improve safety.

A statement from park director Duncan Phillips yesterday, said: "Gullivers has been helping the HSE with its inquiries following this tragic accident last year and we welcome the news that no further action will be taken by the HSE.

"We shall continue to give Mr Dow's family our full support, but believe that this report brings a close to what has been a very traumatic and upsetting time for the family and friends of Hugh Dow and everyone who worked with him.

"Health and safety matters are the number one priority at Gulliver's Theme Parks and, in line with the findings in the report, we have strengthened our team of experts and advisors which manages this area of the business, together with a designated board director.

"The potential risks of our theme parks are continually assessed by the board and our team of consultants and we operate very strict and tightly controlled safety procedures for both staff and visitors on all our rides."

The park faces another inspection in 2008 when the HSE will test it against National Fairground Inspection guidelines.

Cops come clean over custody suite

Police station holding area scores more for hygiene than top city restaurants

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THE custody suite at Milton Keynes Police Station is rated better for its food hygiene than a number of city restaurants.

The suite has been given three stars for cleanliness by Milton Keynes Council's environmental health team.

But Domino's Pizza in Newport Pagnell, Giraffe at thecentre:mk, and The George Inn in Little Brickhill, were among 34 eateries to get just one star.

Even the police canteen, used by Thames Valley Police staff, was only given a one star rating.

The ratings are being given under the 'Scores on the Door's' scheme - whereby restaurants, takeaways, schools etc are graded from 0-5 stars, following a council inspection.

Hundreds of city eateries have now been rated.

Businesses are awarded a star rating based on the food hygiene standards identified at the time of the inspection.

The score given from the most recent inspection will be the star rating published on the internet.

Businesses are also supplied with a sticker and certificate for them to display, hence the tagline 'Scores on the Doors'.

The star rating varies from five stars for businesses who have achieved an excellent standard, to no stars where improvements are clearly required.

Local venues which got no stars included The Lakeside Pub and Grill at Willen Lake and Roosters in Stony Stratford.

An Environmental Health spokesman said: "This will make for a really transparent system, whereby customers will be able to see just how well their favourite eatery performs in terms of hygiene practices.

"It will encourage food premises operators to ensure they keep up to scratch, and follow the rules with relation to hygiene and other safe practices."

Inspections of catering premises carried out by the council since January1, 2006, can be viewed on www.scoresonthedoors.org.uk

Herd this one? Scouts Jacob Magill and Oliver Cain show off their mini moos in front of the real thing

Scouts set to milk it with mini moos

A SCOUT group is celebrating 100 years by taking part in a moo-ving challenge.

The Bletchley Scout group has made 100 special edition model concrete cows to raise funds.

The mini cows are approximately 20cm long and weigh about 3.5kg.

One of the Scout leaders took on the challenge at the beginning of the year and started by making a clay model.

From that a mould was produced and concrete has been mixed morning and night in order to cast all 100 mini concrete cow models. Each one has been painted by members of the group and a mini Scout neckerchief completes the decoration.

Brewers, a local paint specialist, has donated the masonry paint while the MK Dons will have ten cows on sale at their home game against Bradford on Saturday, October 6.

Saints Scout Group assistant leader, Mark Cain said "Everyone who has seen one of these little cows has instantly fallen in love with them. They always ask how can they get one? They will have to be quick though as there will only ever be 100 of these special edition Scout mini concrete cows ever made.

"The Saints Scouts have already achieved a 100km hike, 100 raft crossings of a lake and 100 nights camping. The cow challenge seemed an obvious way of commemorating the Scout movement and celebrating the 40th birthday of the city of Milton Keynes itself."

The cows go on general sale on Monday at www.mkcows.com at prices starting from £10 each.

All the profits will go to The Saints Scout Group in Bletchley, Mitlon Keynes.

Rising damp: George Wilder on the staircase where contractors have replastered an internal wall

Workers left OAP in 'house of horrors'

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

AN 87-year-old's home was converted into a 'house of horrors' after council contractors were sent in to improve it.

Disabled pensioner George Wilding, of Althorpe Cresent, Bradville, needed a wooden stick to reach his new fuse box after it was installed two feet higher than his old one, plug sockets were moved to 'hard to reach' places and light fittings replaced so high he couldn't change a bulb.

But the final straw came when he had to call his local MP, Mark Lancaster, to break into his own house after workmen, sent to rectify the problems, locked him out.

The workers, from council contractor Mite, had been sent to his three-bedroom council house to bring it in line with the Government initiative to bring social housing up to a 'decent standard' by 2010.

The pensioner, who has two slipped discs in his back, was also left without a bannister rail for two weeks leaving him to climb up the stairs sideways, his carpets were ripped up and not re-fitted, his toilet seat broken, a radiator removed and a support wall replastered for damp, even though it didn't need it.

The council agreed to sort out the problems after the North East Milton Keynes MP got involved.

However, on Monday, the MP got more than he bargained for when he visited the home.

Mr Wilding had gone out to walk his dog only to return to find the workman had also left, along with his house key.

The MP ended up squeezing through a downstairs window to get into the house and unlock the door.

Mr Wilding said: "I have lived here for 32 years, I have never had damp. They replastered a support wall. How can damp get into that?

"The first thing that would happen would be that the woodwork goes, and that hasn't happened. He's left such a mess of my bedroom. I was willing to forget it, but they pushed it too far. It's gone over the top. Someone is going to be answerable for this."

Mr Lancaster said: "It seems like they are creating work. There has been no supervision by the council. You and I, the tax payers, are paying for this.

"To the council's credit, once it was pointed out, they did rectify it within days. But how many other properties has this happened to?

A spokesman for the council said: "This work was all done in good faith, and to be honest, we were somewhat surprised that this gentleman was unhappy with the finished job.

"However, he is an elderly gentleman and we do take his concerns very seriously, so our director of housing and a senior housing surveyor made sure they visited Mr Wilding to discuss his complaints.

"We were unable to make some of the changes he suggested, for health and safety reasons, but we were able to make other alterations, and we believe he is now reasonably happy with the end result."

No butts has got to be better

SMOKERS have paid the price for dropping cigarette butts in Central Milton Keynes.

Officers from the city's Safer Communities Unit caught 31 people in six hours, issuing £75 fixed penalty notices on the spot last week.

The crackdown was an effort to stamp out smoking litter, which has increased since the smoking ban was introduced on July 1.

Nationally it costs £200 million a year to rid the streets of dumped cigarette ends.

Manager of the Safer Communities Unit, Pete Roberts, said: "The cost of clearing up dropped cigarette butts is massive.

"Cleansing operations cost the taxpayer £4.5 million a year in Milton Keynes, much of this relates to litter and this of course includes cigarette butts.

"Since the smoking ban was introduced there has been a significant increase in dropped cigarette ends.

"But there is no excuse, there are loads of external ashtrays all over the city and people can also buy Stubbis, which are inexpensive wallets that can hold up to five butts before they can be disposed of properly."

Knife used as pensioner robbed at cashpoint

AN 82-year-old man was robbed at knife-point at a cashpoint in the city centre.

At around 10.40pm on Thursday the victim was withdrawing money at Nat West bank on Silbury Boulevard when a man approached him and threatened him with a knife before stealing £230.

Detective Constable Moyra Richardson said: "Just before the robbery the victim saw two people walking past and I am very keen to speak to them."

Police described the offender as black, 5ft 8 inches tall and of slight build.

He was wearing a balaclava, a dark blue top with 'Oregon' written across the front.

Condolences

SIR – Further to our liaison last week, I note that you've had a front and later page scoop about health and safety issues on the school bus to Royal Latin (where my eldest daughter was once a pupil) and about the MKC's asbestos offence on page 7 – another public health and safety alert. Well done again.

But my main intention today must remain with the rather sombre news in your paper about the untimely demise of barrister and parish councillor Neil Cawley who was in regular touch with me since I stood as an Independent Parliamentary Candidate for MKNE constituency in April 2005.

I am saddened to hear that such a conviction exemplar, a committed public servant and a visionary has been taken away our community at such a young age.

Having missed his funeral, I would like to convey my heartfelt condolences and empathy to his wife Serene, two very young sons and any extended family he may have.

I pray to the Almighty to grant his soul an unconditional abode in His Glory. May his soul rest in eternal peace.

Anant Vyas
Leader, MK Community Ambassadors and Independent Parliamentary Candidate MKNE

Five-star restaurant

SIR – I refer to Alicia Babaee's article dated September 19 'cleanliness rewarded' and am writing to express my disappointment at the fact that after being the only Indian restaurant in Milton Keynes to be awarded a five-star Food Hygiene rating by Milton Keynes Council, my restaurant's name is absent from the article.

The author has mentioned a number of businesses, including another restaurant in Woburn Sands, and yet Jalori Indian Cuisine finds no mention in the list of winners.

I am sure your readers would like to know if an Indian restaurant has also been awarded a five-star rating.

Bus passenger safety

SIR – Just to add to Pete Lancaster's excellent letter pointing out the possibilities of injury to passengers within vehicles.

I feel it is important to realise that at least some of Mr Lancaster's observations apply equally well to public service vehicles and not just private cars.

This should be especially noted by MK Metro and indeed any bus or coach operator.

N J Dennis

Weekend parking

SIR – What a pity the current parking changes in the city centre didn't include Zone C, CMK's business area.

While the parking charges are fully understandable from Monday to Friday, at the weekend the streets are virtually empty.

What is the justification, then, for charges on Saturday and Sunday?

Parking charges are meant to bring benefit to people by easing pressure on parking spaces but this is not the case in Zone C at weekends.

The charges just cause confusion and annoyance. This is especially so when areas of Zone B, closer to the shopping area, are free.

A petition with 120 signatures of business owners, workers and customers was submitted to the council last year to no avail.

This has been re-submitted to the current consultation process and we look forward to hearing how the council justify the charges.

Thanks for bus bust

SIR – Thanks for publishing the story my friend Stevie told you about.

Everyone, especially me, on the 905 bus appreciates what you have done.

■ SIR – I am writing in response to Alicia Babaee's article headlined 'Crammed in like cattle'.

I could not believe what I saw.

For a bus driver to agree to drive even metres with children sitting on the floor like that is just disgraceful.

It's made even worse that it comes in the weeks following a huge coach crash in Milton Keynes in which everyone was seated sensibly and yet it was still a miracle no one was hurt.

Good on the young lad Stevie Burrett for speaking out.

Music idea a classic

SIR – Your article about reducing anti-social behaviour by playing classical music around shops amused me. It's a great idea if it keeps little toerags away.

Let's just hope the kids don't turn it around on us and start playing hip hop in places they wouldn't want us to be - such as at parents' evenings.

Family support crucial to community fighter

SIR – Neil Cawley's untimely death is very sad for many.

His family supported him in his community role in ways that may not be obvious to them such as just being there, allowing him the freedom to act on behalf of others and to take on the chin the inevitable criticism that comes the way of the committed, dedicated and principled individual.

Often we clashed – mainly because he was always right and so was I.

That his children should hold on to his memory in the spirit of his community work is a sure sign that his legacy will persist for decades to come.

Think bike

SIR – I was sad to read that yet another biker has been killed on our roads.

This seems to be a major problem across the country not least in Milton Keynes.

My parents and many of our family friends are bikers, so it frightens me to think about the chances of something going wrong when they are out on a ride.

I am glad the road safety officers at the council are organising safety training for bikers to try and make them more aware of hazards.

But something needs to be done to make car drivers more aware of bikers.

I remember they ran adverts on television a while ago, but they don't seem to make much difference.

So many accidents seem to be caused by cars pulling out on motor bikes without looking.

Please everyone try and think, it is someone's dad, mum, brother, sister or friend on the back of that bike.

Miss J Whalley

Get on the rails

SIR – Milton Keynes & Bletchley Rail User Group will hold its Annual General Meeting at the Holiday Inn, Saxon Gate, Central Milton Keynes at 7.30pm on Tuesday October 2.

There will be presentations from GoVia, the company which will take over the Silverlink franchise from November 2007, and from Virgin Trains which operates the long distance services. The new GoVia franchise will be known as London Midland.

A new timetable for all services through Milton Keynes will be introduced in December 2008 when the works at Milton Keynes Central station have been completed. An outline of this new timetable will be described and passengers invited to comment on it.

The Rail User Group will also hold its AGM and elect its committee.

All passengers who use Bletchley and Milton Keynes Central stations are invited to attend and to join the Rail User Group.

This is an opportunity for passengers to find out about future plans for train services to and from Milton Keynes and Bletchley. Regular commuters and occasional users are welcome to come along.

We want to ensure that there are good services from Milton Keynes stations to London for commuters and to all parts of the country for business and leisure travellers. We are concerned that the proposed new timetables for the end of next year will not satisfy all of these requirements for the residents and businesses of Milton Keynes and will be lobbying for improvements.

Alan Francis
Chairman of Milton Keynes & Bletchley Rail User Group

Exciting times

SIR – Once again MK looks like it is at the cutting edge of new design with the proposals for the new development for the Xscape featured in your paper last week.

What is happening in our city at the moment is really exciting as a young professional person, living and working in Milton Keynes I feel very lucky to have such facilities on my doorstep. A first class theatre, snow slope, a range of new and exciting restaurants and shops.

I just wish someone would sort out a decent form of late night public transport. Why should we have to pay over inflated taxi prices to get back home at night. We like to call ourselves a city but to truly compete with established cities we need to get our infrastructure right and like them, introduce some form of night bus system running on a loop from city estates to the city centre.

Can anyone give me an answer as to why this has not happened yet.

Mr P Green
Bradwell Common Boulevard

Stars a bright idea

SIR – I think it is an excellent idea for the council to be rating restaurants with stars depending on how clean they are (Cleanliness rewarded, MK NEWS, September 19)

I will be making sure that I do not eat at a restaurant or a takeaway at a restaurant that has less than four stars.

Hopefully such a scheme will ensure that those places on one star will be forced to do something about its hygiene or face going out of business.

Hanslope spy base behind schedule and over budget

A SPY base being built to house 400 spies is millions of pounds over budget and months behind schedule.

The £30 million three storey structure at Hanslope Park is set to follow in Bletchley Park's footsteps by cracking 21st century codes.

It was due to open earlier this month, but the building, reported to cover 6,500 square metres of floor space, is nowhere near ready.

It is being constructed by Hemel Hempstead firm Sir Robert McAlpine.

The 400 staff who will be housed within the new building at Her Majesty's Government Communications Centre have been told they will not move in until January at the earliest.

The building links MI6 stations with embassies abroad.

It allows fast and secure connections with diplomats and spies across the world.

One of its most crucial roles is to give early warning of terrorist attacks.

James Bond-style gadgets are already made in the site's existing building.

A spokesman for the Foreign Office (FO) said: "Changes in IT and the security requirements resulted in design changes to the new ICT building.

"Consequently there has been a slight delay to the completion date and a small increase to the overall cost.

"It is planned that it will be handed over to the FO in mid January."

But MK NEWS understands that the builders, who have their own driveway into the site due to the number of trucks being used, are also behind schedule.

Yesterday Sir Robert McAlpine said nobody was available to comment.

Council to make Olympic team bid

MK's Olympic hopeful Craig Pickering.

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THE council is drawing up a bid to an attract an Olympic team to come and stay in Milton Keynes during the 2012 London games.

Milton Keynes will be put into a catalogue of areas that teams from around the world will look at when choosing where to stay.

The pitch will focus on what the city has to offer such as hotels, training grounds, entertainment and the fact that it is close to London, where the games will be hosted.

It is not yet known which of Milton Keynes' sporting facilities will be used.

The area has a host of potential stars expected to be competing for gold medals in 2012 including European silver medallist long jumper Greg Rutherford from Bletchley and 100 metre Star runner Craig Pickering.

A Buckinghamshire & Milton Keynes Olympic Co-ordinating Group has been set up to ensure that Buckinghamshire and Milton Keynes communities benefit as much as possible from the 2012 Games.

Olympian and Buckinghamshire businessman and resident Adrian Moorhouse, who chairs the group, said: "Bidding to host a Pre-Games Training Camp is a chance to showcase on a world stage the excellent facilities we have here in Buckinghamshire.

"This is a unique opportunity to get involved in the 2012 Games and to leave a long lasting legacy for our communities."

Despite approving of a team coming to Milton Keynes, Cllr Sam Crooks is campaigning against the use of Woughton Sports Centre.

He said: "I am concerned that the council might want to use Woughton.

"The idea of an Olympic team coming to Milton Keynes is a great way to get us on the map.

"I'm not against an Olympic training village, but to have one there wouldn't be very sensible.

"There are flats for elderly residents which open out onto the field. It would bring a lot of traffic onto the estate.

"There is already light pollution there. I just can't see it."

Some teams will choose to do this in their home countries, however, some will use facilities known as 'Pre-Games Training Camps' in and around the UK.

Other cities such as Birmingham and Manchester are expected to attract teams from big countries.

The city could either be used as a training camp for the Olympic and Paralympic Games.

SARA THORNTON

We all have a role to play in making the city safe

Our occasional series of columns continues with the thoughts of Thames Valley Police Chief Constable Sara Thornton

A FEW months ago I heard a fascinating radio programme about the development of Milton Keynes in its very early days. What struck me most of all as I listened was the tremendous hope and optimism expressed by everyone.

People hoped for a better place in which to live and work and bring up their children – and I am sure that they wanted a safer place.

Thames Valley Police has a key role to play in helping to build that safer place.

As the city grows and flourishes there are new challenges for policing but I am confident that if we all work together we can realise the vision of 40 years ago.

There are 398 police officers, 42 police community support officers, 34 special constables, 99 police staff, and 57 volunteers working from the various police stations across Milton Keynes – in total 630 people.

They work hard on your behalf dealing with, in 2006/07, 73,000 incidents and just over 16,500 crimes a year, as well as providing local patrols in cars, on bicycles, horseback or foot.

But they can't make Milton Keynes safe on their own. All of us as citizens have an important role to play. What do I mean by that?

We all need to take responsibility for encouraging good standards of behaviour - as parents, friends or colleagues. The police role is then to uphold those standards of behaviour, to intervene when there is wrong-doing and to protect the vulnerable.

As Sir Robert Peel argued so many years ago as he established the Metropolitan Police, 'the public are the police and the police are the public'.

MANY have concerns about anti-social behaviour, the lack of respect and consideration for others and the general sense of 'walk on by'.

The introduction of Safer Neighbourhoods in Milton Keynes means that we will have officers on the ground who can respond to these concerns, and ASBOs and dispersal orders can be obtained for the most problematic.

However, concerns about anti-social behaviour are not a matter for the police alone, partly because there are not enough patrol officers and police community support officers, but mainly because it is everyone's responsibility.

It is also important that those who are planning and building this great city in Milton Keynes take care to build places that are attractive and safe.

THERE is an American policing theory called 'broken windows' which argues that if there is an absence of control in an area, maybe broken windows, graffiti, burned out cars or disorderly youths, then crime will flourish.

The physical environment affects crime levels and the way people feel about their safety.

Conversely if our city centre is attractive and well planned then it will attract the vast majority of us who are law abiding, and this in turn makes public spaces safer.

All my staff in Milton Keynes are committed to providing the type of police service that you want, a patrolling presence that reassures and a prompt response to emergencies.

In particular, my neighbourhood officers are concerned about the things that concern you and want to work with you to make a real difference.

There is so much that is good about Milton Keynes – let's work together to ensure that we can all enjoy it in safety.

Urban party dudes up for the high jump

AN impressive urban party took place at the Theatre District this weekend.

The MK Parkour team took to their heels to demonstrate their free running skills.

Street dancing, break dancing, rap/hip-hopping, beatboxing and singing was also on offer.

Free running is the efficient movement over any given area with the emphasis on creativity, but the MK Parkour team says there is a lot more to it then climbing up buildings as high as possible and jumping off.

They say the skills needed to make this sport safe and breathtaking to watch are taught at low level and as each individual's balance, ability, confidence and fitness improve then they can be taken to a higher level.

Visitors were given the opportunity to have a go by joining a training session for £2 to raise money for Cancer Research.

Underpass wounding man out of hospital

A MAN who was found with stab wounds six hours after leaving a pub is out of hospital and has been interviewed by police.

The 30-year-old man was suffering a punctured lung when a taxi driver came across him on the V8 near Peartree Bridge at 6.30am on August 25.

He had been drinking at The Eagle pub in Eaglestone.

Information suggests that three men set upon the victim as he walked through the underpass linking Netherfield and Peartree Bridge at around 6.20am.

It is believed they punched and kicked him before knifing him in the chest. Because the man was heavily sedated after the attack, and does not speak English, detectives have been unsure of the exact details.

They know the man was drinking at The Eagle until 12.30am and have been appealing for witnesses to give information about what happened to him between then and 6.30am.

He was taken to Milton Keynes General Hospital.

DI Yvette Hitch from Milton Keynes Police Station said at the time: "We know the man left the Eagle pub at 12.30am and was found by a taxi driver at about 6.30am. We need to find out what has happened to the man between these times.

"We have spoken to a number of witnesses but would like to hear from anyone else who was in the area early on Saturday morning and saw anything suspicious.

"An area where he was found as well as an underpass close by have both been searched by scenes of crime officers looking for a weapon and other evidence."

The man removed his trainers so he could run away faster, and was found by the taxi driver around 100 metres from where the stabbing seems to have taken place.

“I am used to catching snippets of conversation and being a journalist I’m a little bit nosy, but as I walked I could only catch the odd word when I was right next to people

– Laura Hannam spends a day finding out what it is like to be partially deaf

EXPERIENCING what it is like to be partially deaf even for a short period was one of the most enlightening things I have ever done.

I started my morning with Specsavers’ hearing aid audiologist Qazi Ehtsham Rashid, known as Sham, with a full hearing test.

Sham then inserted the material usually used to make a mould for a hearing aid into my ear with a syringe.

This reduced my hearing by 20 decibels, effectively cutting the sound of a conversation by half and simulating the range of a mildly deaf person.

At first in the quiet of an office I thought the experiment would not work as hearing one-to-one conversation was easy.

But the moment I left the office and walked through the shop I noticed the effect.

Suddenly I had no idea what people were saying around me.

With good hearing I am used to catching snippets of conversation and being a journalist I’m a little bit nosy, but as I walked I could only catch the odd word when I was right next to people.

This felt incredibly strange and isolating.

I also noticed that I could hear the sound of my own feet padding the floor more than anything else.

As we went out into the shopping centre it became worse.

The noise of those speaking around me was muffled into a nonsensical drone and I found myself having to ask Sham to repeat himself.

Qazi Ehtsham Rashid injects moulding compound into Laura Hannam’s ears, rendering her partially deaf

My task was to order a doughnut in Krispy Kreme, which was embarrassing as I could not judge the volume of my own voice so had no idea if I was shouting or whispering.

Sham asked me several times to speak up as I was so paranoid I was yelling he could hardly hear me.

Eventually I started not bothering to say things as it was too much effort, so I can see how those with hearing loss may become quiet and insular.

As we sat to eat I found that I could not eat my doughnut at the same time as listening to Sham as the sound of myself munching was so loud.

Background noise was a continuing problem with the music in the shop and an attendant singing drowning out the sound of Sham’s voice.

Finally we returned to the office and I was extremely glad to have the moulds taken out of my ears.

As I was walking through the shopping centre back to my car I enjoyed the amazing sensation of being able to hear everything again.

I realised this must be somewhere close to that felt by people who wear a hearing aid for the first time.

Specsavers has been introducing a hearing aid service to their stores for the past four years.

Sham said the service offers an alternative to using the NHS, which currently has a waiting list of 18 months in Milton Keynes and can only offer basic hearing aids.

“Here we only have a two week wait,” he said.

“We can also provide after care that the NHS can’t.

“One of the first people I saw was a 25-year-old who had never heard a sound before as he had profound loss.”

“I didn’t think I would get a result but thought I would give it a shot.

“We used the demo hearing aids and while we were trying it I snapped the box that holds the hearing aids closed and he jumped.

“He started signing frantically to his mother who asked me to close it again, so I did and he heard it.

“His mum started crying and he started crying.

“With the hearing aid he could pick up low frequencies, but he still cannot understand speech.

“I have been told by his mother he now plugs his Ipod into his hearing aid with a converter and listens to music.”

“This kind of thing makes you realise it makes such a difference.”

Specsavers hearing aids cost between £495 and £1,595. For more information call01908 662116 or visit www.specsavershearcare.co.uk

Biggest fan fails to spot X-Factor winner

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

X-FACTOR winner Shayne Ward serenaded a diner at new city restaurant Las Iguanas at the weekend.

But he didn't get the urge to give his lungs a workout while sampling the cocktails.

Instead, the singer was being filmed for a scene in Ant & Dec's TV show, Saturday Night Takeaway.

Shayne was filmed in costume complete with sombrero and black stick-on moustache serenading Jo Taylor, a guest at the restaurant, with a gimmicky song about tequila.

It was just one part of a week long stitch up on a Milton Keynes resident who's a massive fan of Shayne's.

He spent time in her house during the week – even climbing into her bed and raiding her fridge – after her family let him in.

She was lured into the restaurant by a friend and the pair were surrounded by extras who were all in on the secret identity of the singer.

On Saturday night's show, the fan was pulled out from the crowd and watched footage of many close encounters with her idol.

As part of the prank Shayne had dressed up in a gorilla suit and asked her for a date, and had dressed as a traffic warden and given her a ticket.

She failed to identify Shayne even when he sang to her.

Who he? Alejandra Friess with Shayne Ward at Las Iguanas

SCHOOLCHILDREN across Milton Keynes will be busy honing their language skills today.

The move is part of a Council of Europe initiative and is held annually to celebrate language and cultural diversity.

Many schools in Milton Keynes will be running a programme of activities throughout the day.

These include a Spanish taster session with tapas at St Thomas Aquinas in Bletchley, pupils from Two Mile Ash, Loughton and Caroline Haslett schools purchasing a French breakfast and games, singing and reading fairy tales of European cultures at Willen.

Staff and children at Walton High also shared stories from the cultures of countries represented in the school community.

This is not just any clothing store

A HUGE new clothes store is heading for the Denbigh stadium site, but it's not just any clothes store.

Marks and Spencer has applied for 13,928 square metres of retail space by the V6 Grafton Street entrance to stadium:mk, the home of MK Dons.

Architects plans show that the store would take up a large corner of the site.

The application, which includes a shoppers cafe and 535 parking spaces will be discussed at a meeting of the Development and Control Committee at the civic offices tomorrow night.

Initial plans for the site included a warehouse and outdoor garden centre but a downturn in these sectors raised concerns and those plans were scrapped.

Marks and Spencer's spotted its chance to capitalise on the location's potential.

Proceeds from the M&S development would be used to fund the development of the stadium.

M&S currently has two main stores in the city, one in the city centre and the other in Kingston.

Retail operators in the city centre and Bletchley fear they could suffer from a loss of trade if the store is built at Denbigh North.

A resident of Granby Court has also expressed his concerns in a letter to the committee, telling them that nearby residents will lose car parking spaces and face increased traffic congestion.

Members of the dead airmen's families admire the Mosquito propeller memorial at Magna Park

War plane prop honours airmen

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MEMORIAL has been unveiled to commemorate the lives of two airmen who died during Second World War when their plane crashed near Milton Keynes.

The remains of the aircrew's plane were discovered in December on Fen Farm when developers began work on the site.

Excavations began after a digger punctured its tyre by driving over the end of the plane's propeller blade, which was buried close to the surface.

The Milton Keynes Aviation Society (MKAS) was called to investigate and a full excavation discovered the remains of a de Havilland Mosquito plane, built in 1941.

The plane was flown by warrant officer Gavin Harvie, 29, from Glasgow and his navigator 22-year-old sergeant Martin Card, from Ramsgate in Kent.

The airmen were training when an equipment fault caused them to crash at around 150mph as they were coming to land at Cranfield on January 14 1945.

The crew were recovered and surface wreckage cleared at the time but the engines, which were buried 12ft underground, were left.

One engine was discovered and excavated by the Buckinghamshire Aircraft Recovery Group in 1992.

The remainder of the plane, including the six foot long propeller, various engine components and cannons, have now been removed to Twinwoods aircraft museum, near Bedford, for conservation.

Dr Steve Bond of the Milton Keynes Aviation Society, said: "Since the plane was first discovered, the Milton Keynes Aviation Society has worked hard with all involved to ensure the preservation of this important piece of history."

"The efforts taken by all parties concerned will serve to ensure that the airmen's sacrifice is not forgotten."

The Fen Farm site is now home to a large distribution centre for John Lewis called Magna Park, developed by Gazeley.

To mark the discovery of the plane and to commemorate the lives of the two airmen the organisations have produced a memorial. The statue includes a representative Mosquito propeller blade, donated by MerlinV12 through the RAF Millom Museum in Cumbria.

A ceremony was held on the site to unveil the memorial, beginning with a march of a Guard of Honour from the Bletchley Park Air Cadets Squadron, the Aircrew Association and Royal Airforce Association.

Members of the families of the two airmen also attended.

The ceremony concluded with a flypast from the SkyHawks Formation Team and a dedication from the Air Cadets Wing Chaplain.

Pat McGillycuddy, chief executive officer of Gazeley, said: "We are all proud to be part of this important event.

"Together we wanted to find a way to honour the bravery and dedication of the two airmen and also to enable their families to visit the place where the plane was discovered and remember their loved ones.

"This site represents an important piece of history and the memorial will be a lasting reminder for us all."

Peace protester's case thrown out

A PEACE campaigner from Milton Keynes has been cleared of any wrong-doing after he was arrested on a demonstration.

Brian Barlow, a member of the Milton Keynes Stop The War Group, took part in a peace walk on October 29, 2006 to mark the second anniversary of the US attack on Fullujah, Iraq.

He walked from Britain's military centre in Northwood to a peace camp in Parliament Square.

Mr Barlow was arrested on suspicion of unlawful demonstrating without authority.

Last Friday his trial was dismissed as City of Westminster magistrates ruled there was no case to answer.

Mr Barlow said: "Now that this case has fallen apart action should now be taken against those war criminals responsible for the attack, and reparations be paid to the Iraqi people.

Four other campaigners also had their trials dismissed.

Fellow defendant Genny Bove said: "A tiny victory was won in this court case."

Company fined after boxes fell on worker

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A COMPANY has been fined £24,000 after a worker was injured by falling boxes at a city warehouse.

Logistics company Exel UK Limited, of Clarke Road, Mount Farm, was sentenced at Milton Keynes magistrates court on two counts of failing to meet health and safety standards.

Warehouse administrator Franca Germano suffered head, neck and back injuries after four heavy boxes filled with clothes tumbled on to her as she was unloading them from a container on October 4, 2005.

Miss Germano was taken to hospital by ambulance but continued to suffer from neck pains and severe migraines after she was discharged.

The court heard that this followed a similar incident at the company's other Milton Keynes site, in Merton Drive, Redmoor, in September 2004, when a man fell as he was unloading stock.

Barry Berlin, prosecuting, said health and safety officers from Milton Keynes Council inspected the site after the accident.

Mr Berlin said: "Officer Jenkins said the whole operation was badly organised and workers were given a wholly inappropriate set of step ladders.

"A year before Miss Germano's accident improvement notices were served... but these did not prompt Exel to take immediate action.

"She said she didn't remember receiving any health and safety training or being told to do anything differently."

Exel UK Limited had pleaded guilty to two charges at an earlier hearing.

James Ageros, in mitigation, said: "This accident happened at a time when Exel's robust systems had not percolated down to that site.

"The local manager didn't elevate the complaints of the safety officer but once the relevant levels of management got involved this system was immediately provided."

Chairman of the magistrates, Tom Prosser, said: "The company failed to ensure a safe system of working and an employee was injured as a result."

Exel UK Limited, which is part of the huge multinational company DHL and has an annual turnover of £63million, was fined and ordered to pay costs of £11,287.

Stolen tractor ploughed into garden fences

A BLETCHLEY teenager went on a two-and-a-half mile rampage in a stolen tractor.

Nathan Pitt, 18, of Rannoch Close, knocked down fences, gates and a child's swing during the joy ride.

At Northampton Magistrate's Court on September 20, he pleaded guilty to driving the tractor without insurance and damaging it in the early hours of August 16.

He denies taking the tractor without the permission of owner Moulton College.

The teenager also denies causing damage to property and driving at a farmer trying to prevent the destruction of his garden.

The tractor came to a stop in a ditch by the A508 at Pitsford.

Pitt was released on conditional bail and will be stand trial at Northampton Crown Court on November 1, accused of the aggravated taking of a vehicle, causing damage and driving dangerously.

Matthew Eady, 22, of Chalcombe Road, Northampton, admitted allowing himself be carried in the tractor despite knowing the vehicle had been stolen.

He will be sentenced later.

100 given yellow cards as warning

West Bletchley youngsters take notice on anti-social behaviour

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

MORE than 100 youngsters have been handed yellow cards as part of a crackdown on anti-social behaviour in West Bletchley.

The scheme, in which youngsters are being given the yellow and red referee-style cards, was born after West Bletchley residents reported being terrified of large groups of teenagers congregating in Barleyhurst Park.

It was introduced in August under the name Operation Rebound.

On September 9, Thames Valley Police and the council signed a dispersal order for West Bletchley, giving police the power to escort home any child under 16 who is found misbehaving in a public place after 9pm. They can then exclude the child from that area for a further 24 hours.

The cards tell young people that they have been warned and that if they re-offend then action will be taken against them.

Anyone given a red card will have their names recorded on the police computer system. Their parents will also be informed in writing.

Inspector Neil Dodds said: "Youngsters clearly understand what a yellow card means, and it looks like they're taking notice as the situation at Barleyhurst Park has calmed down considerably.

"In fact, we only issue yellow cards as a last resort.

"Where we ask young people to stop misbehaving and they take our advice then there's no need for a formal warning."

Previously one resident was attacked when he tried to intervene to stop youngsters drinking, swearing and shouting late into the night.

Don't see red: Cllr Liz Campbell, Dr Phylis Starkey and Insp Neil Dodds at the start of the yellow card scheme

One resident said: "To be honest, it felt like we were under siege. We'd watch helplessly as they all turned up, knowing that we were in for a night of hell.

"The language was disgusting and the noise would wake our children."

Residents were initially advised to keep a diary of events to help police build up a picture of the anti-social behaviour occurring.

Insp Dodds said: "We had several 999 calls from residents who witnessed fighting. One resident intervened directly and was attacked himself. I knew that I needed to take firm action.

"No one objects to young people having a good time. After all, we were all young once.

"However, when this spills over into violence and abuse then we have to put a stop to it."

Police have mounted a surveillance operation in the area and action has been taken against one local off-licence.

Cllr Liz Campbell, who chairs the local Neighbourhood Action Group (NAG), said: "The NAG has written to all shops in the area reminding them to check the age of anyone who tries to buy alcohol."

Milton Keynes South West MP Dr Phyllis Starkey helped launch the card scheme.

Baby yoga and languages offered at training nursery

BABY yoga and learning a foreign language are just two of the unusual activities that will be on offer at a pioneering new training nursery that is being launched at Milton Keynes College.

The new facility does not only offer quality childcare, but also opportunities for students studying at the college to get hands-on training.

The official launch took place on Monday when college principal Rob Badcock presided at the official opening ceremony.

Anne Train, child care services manager for Milton Keynes College said: "The nursery will take children from four months to five years old and aims to provide a holistic approach to childcare. We are hoping the nursery will establish itself as a centre of excellence for both childcare and training.

"Another reason that we are different is that we can offer childcare by the hour. "

The nursery, developed from refurbished college buildings at the Chaffron Way site, Leadenhall, is fully equipped with rooms and resources to cater for ages 4 months to 5 years.

It will also benefit from two separate large outdoor areas for younger and older children. The nursery will be able to accommodate up to 50 children a day and places are rapidly filling up.

COMPETITION

Win a £50 meal at Las Iguanas

LAS IGUANAS
EAT LATIN • DRINK LATIN

MK NEWS has teamed up with Las Iguanas to offer five lucky readers the chance to win a meal worth £50.

Renowned for its authentic Latin American food and for producing and importing its own brand of Brazil's national spirit CachaÁa, Las Iguanas will be bringing a slice of Latin Life to Milton Keynes when it opens in September.

Vibrant and atmospheric with friendly service, sassy salsa sounds, striking decor, sunny terraces, sizzling fajitas and cool cachaÁa cocktails that just about sums up the Las Iguanas experience, and The Hub is where you'll find it.

Foodies can look forward to tucking into a diverse menu inspired by authentic regional dishes from Brazil, Colombia and Argentina, including Xinxim (Brazilian lime chicken), Moqueca (coconut and tomato curry), fajitas with various fillings (Fillet steak, Lemon chicken or Portobello mushroom and butternut squash) and char-grilled sea bass drizzled with lemon and basil oil. A tasty Tapas selection includes mouth watering calamares with fresh garlic & chilli aioli and split tiger prawns in chilli butter with freshly baked bread. Las Iguanas serve up a light lunch/early evening express menu, great fiesta menus for friends to share, imaginative food for children - and everything is cooked fresh to order.

For those looking for a drink with a difference head to the CachaÁaria (the spirit bar) for traditional Brazilian cocktails made with Las Iguanas Magnifica. The house brand CachaÁa is distilled from sugarcane grown on Las Iguanas' own plantation just outside Rio it doesn't get more authentic than that! A fearsome spirit by itself, it's delicious served with crushed lime and sugar in Las Iguanas' signature Caipirinha or with raspberry liqueur and elderflower and topped with bubbly as a Cana Royale.

A tried and tested success story, Las Iguanas has been bringing a slice of Latin life to a growing number of cities for 16 years. Now there are 14 sites well established in Bristol, Bath, Cardiff, Nottingham, Leicester, Sheffield, Birmingham, Leeds, Manchester and Brighton, Oxford and two sites in London - the Royal Festival Hall and the O2 Dome. Milton Keynes is part of the latest expansion programme for the Bristol-based company.

Every restaurant has its own individual character, but the flamboyant wrought iron chandeliers and colourful mosaics set the scene for a night out in Rio wherever you are.

The new site is a 4500 sq ft ground floor site, with 140 seats in the restaurant, 50 in the bar and 140 on the piazza.

The prize must be taken before December 1, 2007.

HOW TO ENTER

To be in with a chance of winning just answer the following question:
How many seats are there on the piazza?
Send your name, address and telephone number along with your answer on the back of a postcard to: MKNEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes, MK15 0DU or by email to competitions@mk-news.co.uk.

Blind kids go to extremes

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

BLIND children tackled planks and tightropes 40 feet up in the air last week.

Aerial Extreme made it possible using vocal commands.

Thirty children were invited to Willen Lake to demonstrate the versatility and safety of the ropes course.

The children, all members of charity Visually Impaired Children Taking Action (VICTA), came with their guardians for the free session.

They were given the option of either the 'budding extremist' or the 'extremist' courses, which span over 300 metres in total and inlcude zip wires, balance beams and giant spider webs.

The first is 20 feet high and the second is 40 feet high. There is also a voluntary 40ft drop that gives the sense of free-falling and brings people to a gradual soft landing.

It uses a state-of-the-art, unique safety system that never requires you to clip and unclip from your safety line. So far 30,000 people have used it.

Aerial Extreme general manager Simon House said: "What many people do not realise is that Aerial Extreme is a course for everyone of all abilities and ages but it ultimately challenges people both physically and mentally at the same time as being great fun.

"We have been in discussions with VICTA for a few weeks and wanted to demonstrate our great leisure facility and how it can build confidence, encourage team work and offer an exciting outdoor adventure for all."

Victa provides support for visually impaired children and their families.

Management have confirmed they will be working with organisers of VICTA to help raise their profile and look to support in any forthcoming fundraising activities.

Mr House said: "We hope people will be inspired by the children from VICTA and decide to take on their own Aerial Extreme challenge."

FASHION lovers had the chance to see what's hot for the coming season at thecentre:mk.

The shopping centre played host to its three day beauty and fashion event, fashionmk:over! from Friday through to Sunday.

the winner of a competition in MK NEWS, Sabrina Purchase of Haywards Way, Greenleys, was given a head-to-toe makeover.

She was fashion-styled and won a fabulous outfit from Marks and Spencer worth £200 with make-up from House of Fraser and a hair by Andrew Barton.

She says: "I entered the competition to boost my self-esteem which was suffering a bit after the birth of my two daughters. I had hair with three different colours and was a bit nervous when Andrew cut it, but it looks brilliant. Now I'm not just a mum. I feel so much better about myself".

The haircut by Andrew Barton, Hairdresser of the Year and star the TV show Ten Years Younger, was a money-can't buy prize – it costs £350 to have your hair done by him and he is booked up for two years.

Community group hopes to take over London Pride pub

No bar to community work: The London Pride pub no longer fits owner's company profile

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A COMMUNITY charity in Bletchley hopes to move into a pub in the Lakes Estate.

The Crosslinks Centre has applied to change the use of the London Pride pub in Serpentine Court into a community centre.

The independent charity currently rents a shop in the same street where it runs several community activities and services.

The building would serve as a premises both for the charity and for the Spotlight on Bletchley community partnership.

London Pride owners Admiral Taverns said it is selling the property as it does not fit in the company's portfolio.

The Crosslinks Centre was formed in 2003 by members of the Water Eaton Church Centre to help in the regeneration of the local community.

The centre runs a community cafe, an over-55s lunch club, the monthly Milton Keynes Physically Disabled Club and a weekly club for young people with learning difficulties.

The charity delivers free emergency food parcels to families in need on the estate in conjunction with the housing office and community support nurses.

It also provides a collection point for Milton Keynes Credit Union and a base for a family conference centre and the Chamber of Commerce.

All this is run from its shop in Serpentine Court and at the Water Eaton Church Centre.

From the current Spotlight on Bletchley premises in the same road, Crosslinks offers a free internet cafe, a creche, a base for youth workers from Milton Keynes Council and sexual health advisers Brook, careers and training advice from Connections and free bike hire from Sustrans.

By moving into the pub it hopes to put all services together under one roof and develop facilities further, including expanding the internet cafe.

"We have recognised that the way we operate and what we have grown into doesn't fit into any shop unit," said Crosslinks Centre manager Keith Silverthorne.

"We need a more effective and appropriate facility where we can have different groups going on at different times."

"We also hope to use the flat above the pub to help vulnerable families in conjunction with the housing office.

"I understand there is a real need for this so it is an exciting possibility."

The property will also serve as a base for the Spotlight on Bletchley Community Partnership, of which Crosslinks is a member.

The partnership, set up in February 2006, aims to promote charitable purposes, relief from social and economic disadvantage and education and training for residents of all ages.

It also aims to provide opportunities for residents to participate fully in the life of their community.

Lakes loss fears at leisure centre

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

BLETCHLEY residents have raised concerns about the planned new leisure centre and housing in the town.

Abigail Stephenson, of Weston Road, fears the loss of the ornamental lakes will increase the risk of flooding and ruin the view enjoyed by residents.

"I know the reports have recommended that drainage be put in but if they get rid of the lakes they won't be there to take the run off," she said.

She claims Weston Road has recently suffered flooding due to heavy rain and is concerned the situation will worsen.

"Residents in Baisley Gardens also bought their houses on the understanding that they would have a lake view forever," she added.

Mrs Stephenson said other concerns are the felling of trees and the loss of green space which is currently used by dog walkers and as a play area for children.

"The tennis courts back onto my garden and I always see the local lads playing football on them," she said.

"The town council has now been told there will be no green space as was promised, it will be concreted over to be a car park."

"If kids have nothing to do we will have more problems with anti-social behaviour," she added.

Flood fears: The ornamental ponds at Bletchley leisure centre will go

Phase one of the Building a Better Bletchley regeneration project includes a new £18million leisure centre, a 180-space multi-storey car park and 70 homes off Princes Way.

Most of the 300 houses will be constructed during phase two.

The current leisure centre, car park, ornamental lakes, bowling green and disused paved tennis courts will be demolished.

Outline planning approval was granted in July last year and now Milton Keynes Council wants to include the narrowing of Princes Way.

Project leader Paul Sanders, assistant director of leisure, learning and culture at MK Council, said: "Without getting rid of the lakes we wouldn't be able to do anything, the whole project wouldn't happen."

He said drainage surveys have been carried out and no risk of flooding has been found.

He added that some open space would have to be sacrificed.

"We can't do this without losing an element of open space, but we are creating a revitalised living space for Bletchley with new sports opportunities and a brand new swimming pool," he said.

Milton Keynes Council has been given £5million of Government funding, £1million from Sport England and £3.5million by English Partnerships to fund the project. It is part of a wider Bletchley regeneration scheme which includes a revamped Queensway and apartments and shops at Stephenson House.

Dons' fan has a ball after warm-up shot goes wrong

A SIX-year-old girl got more than she bargained for when she went to watch the MK Dons on Saturday – a ball in the face.

Eloise Tofts Of Gloucester Road, Wolverton, was hit in the face by a Leon Knight shot as the team warmed up for its clash with Darlington.

But it wasn't all bad news for Eloise, having seen the incident Jude Stirling jumped into the crowd and took her down to pitch side where he and Paul Ince made Knight apologise to the youngster.

While Eloise was mingling with the players her mother, Sue, sat in her seat to be told by friends what had happened.

Sue said: "I missed the whole thing, I was outside selling 50/50 tickets for the club and Eloise had gone in early because she was bored. When I came in a friend of mine told me what happened and I went up to first aid to see her."

After being checked over by the medics Eloise had her photo taken with the Dons manager, while Nathan Abbey gave her his goalkeeping gloves.

Seeing the efforts the club went to in order to check her daughter was OK impressed Sue, she said: "I do want to thank everyone at the club for everything they did for Eloise on the day.

"When I said thank you to Paul he gave Eloise another programme which he'd signed himself, it said 'lots of love, hope you feel better, love Paul'."

Sue, a season-ticket holder in the family stand, insists there are no hard feelings towards Knight, she said: "Obviously Leon was sorry, I told him off afterwards but really it was probably the best day we've had at the ground."

Brothers hope to be instant stars

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

TWO musical brothers from Bletchley have entered a pop song competition online and one is in pole position.

Fifteen-year-old Druston D'Mello and his elder brother Jason, 17, from Sutherland Grove, have entered the Instant Pop Star online competition, sponsored by Coca Cola.

The brothers have recorded three songs with the guidance of famous producers Simon Hill and Rob May, who have recorded and toured with bands including JTQ, Kim Wilde, Pet Shop Boys, Westlife and Steps.

The tracks are now competing alongside hundreds of others online for listeners' votes.

The three singers with the most votes, plus three chosen by the Instant Popstars producers, will win the chance to record an original song in a top studio.

Druston's cover of James Blunt's You're Beautiful is currently in first place. He also recorded a cover of Elvis Presley's Blue Suede Shoes and the brothers together performed a duet of She Will be Loved by Maroon 5 .

Jason also entered his own cover of She Will be Loved.

The brothers, who attend St Paul's Catholic School in Leadenhall, have both been singing since a young age performing in a family band with their dad for nearly seven years.

Instant pop stars: Brothers Druston and Jason D'Mello

The band perform gigs in pubs and clubs and at events such as weddings and parties, playing music from the 60s to present day including reggae and country songs.

The brothers are talented musicians, Druston playing the bass guitar and Jason the piano and lead guitar.

"We have performed all our lives," said Jason.

The brothers heard about the Instant Popstars competition while on holiday at a Butlins resort on August 24

"They were advertising the competition at the resort and mum saw it and suggested it to my brother," said Jason. "My brother is very into music and hopes this will start his career. We don't write our own songs yet but we like to jam and mess about."

To vote for the brothers visit www.instantpopstar.co.uk.

Voting will close on Sunday.

Win free meals for two at Strada

STRADA

TO celebrate the opening of Strada in Milton Keynes, MK NEWS and the new restaurant have teamed up to offer readers the chance to win one of 25 meals for two to the value of £50 each.

Located at the newly developed thehub:mk on Midsummer Boulevard, Strada offers diners a contemporary and stylish setting to enjoy a relaxing break from shopping. The restaurant, which opens on Saturday, September 29, is also perfect for business lunches and functions with plenty of outside seating overlooking the piazza. The menu is dedicated to providing exactly the kind of rustic, traditional dishes one would expect to find travelling around Italy.

Notable dishes, made using only the very finest fresh ingredients, include:

Risotto Primavera – Creamy risotto with freshly grilled asparagus, broad beans, peas, spring onions, zucchini, green beans and mint. Finished with baby spinach leaves and grated Parmesan; Filetto di manzo al pepe verde – Pan roasted fillet of beef with a creamy shallot and peppercorn sauce served with buttered green beans and garlic and thyme gratin potatoes bean, rocket, red onion, cherry tomato, cucumber and green bean salad. Served with a chive, caper and lemon dressing.

Or Tonno Nizzarda – Seared yellow fin tuna with a cannellini

A range of traditional pizzas – each one theatrically spun by hand – is also a integral feature of Strada's menu. Options include the Rustica, tomato, mozzarella, chargrilled Neapolitan sausage, oven roasted baby artichokes, capers, roasted Italian tomatoes, caramelised onions and fresh oregano.

Desserts are also faithful to the authentic theme with classics such as panettone al forno, a warm panettone bread and butter pudding served with vanilla ice cream and caramel sauce.

General manager Tina Flannery said: "Strada in Italian means 'street' – as in your local street. We wanted to create a local restaurant in thehub:mk, that offers rustic, authentic Italian cooking at a reasonable price. Diners can visit us for a three course meal, but just as easily pop in for a pizza or pasta with a glass of good Italian wine."

Strada serves purely regional Italian wines, as well as beers and spirits, and every table receives complimentary bottled purified water.

It also caters for parents with young children by supplying high-chairs, buggy storage and half portions of pasta.

Why rent when you can buy?

Bellway's The Observatory in Oakley Vale, where the living is made easy. A stylish new house in a vibrant new village community within easy reach of a thriving town must constitute a dream home for most.

Bellway Homes' current development, The Observatory is situated in the exciting new community of Oakley Vale, which offers a wide choice of two-, three- four- and five-bedroom homes to suit all budgets.

Homes at The Observatory – within easy reach of Corby – start at just £127,500 and the great news is that they come under the stamp duty threshold for the area. Oakley Vale offers superb value: for the price of a three bedroom semi-detached home in Milton Keynes, your money will buy you a four bedroom detached home at Bellway's Observatory scheme in Oakley Vale; and for the price of a one-bedroom apartment in Milton Keynes, at The Observatory you will be able to buy a three bedroom terraced house.

Oakley Vale is fast becoming the new property hotspot. Located in the Northamptonshire countryside of Rockingham Forest, the development has excellent road links via the A14 to the M1, M6 and A1 making commuting to the major cities easy. Commuters to London can choose from Kettering Station, just 6 miles away, for a regular train service to London Euston or equally frequent from Northampton Station to London Euston and St Pancras Station. In 2008 a new intercity rail link will be re-established in Corby making Oakley Vale even more accessible.

Oakley Vale has an abundance of open green spaces and a man-made lake with an attractive water cascade but it is convenient too as, adjacent to the development, is a large supermarket and the new village contains a new parade of shops, a pub and restaurant. September 2008 will also see the opening of the first primary school in the new village.

Bellway Northern Home Counties Sales Director, Chris Edginton, said: "Corby is only an hour away by train from London, and Northamptonshire provides superior choice for businesses, visitors and residents alike. The area is surrounded by beautiful countryside, a rich tradition and heritage and charming stone village. The vast rural landscape is 'quintessentially English' and brimming with character".

Fenny road signs decision deferred

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

MORE than 300 Fenny Stratford residents who signed a petition to have the 'Welcome to Bletchley' signs replaced with 'Welcome to Fenny Stratford' ones have been left disappointed.

The signs saying 'Welcome to Bletchley - home of the codebreakers' have been put up on Simpson Road and Watling Street as you drive into Fenny Stratford.

The £30,000 project was the result of a joint agreement between West Bletchley Parish Council and Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council in May.

But it has upset business owners and residents, who say that Fenny Stratford is separate from Bletchley.

Already one of the signs has been defaced.

Bletchley and Fenny Stratford town councillor Danny Galvin tabled the issue to be discussed at the last council meeting.

Many residents turned out but the town council was unable to agree on whether the signs should be replaced. The matter was deferred until the next town council meeting.

Businessman Jon Gregory has been demanding new signs. He said: "I felt exasperated at the apparent inability of the council to make a decision in the face of such strong opposition to the Bletchley signs.

"Even the majority of the town council agrees with us that the signs are detrimental to the welfare of Fenny Stratford, so their reluctance to make a decision is so frustrating."

The town council said it needed to obtain further information on the cost of replacing the signs and to see if Milton Keynes Council would give permission for a replacement.

Mr Gregory is trying to drum up support for the next town council meeting.

He added: "This is simple procrastination.

"They have only recently costed the original signs so they know how much it will be to fund this project and the MK Council do not appear to have any interest in what signs go up on their highways judging by the Bletchley sign fiasco so why can't they simply make a decision?"

He is urging people to join him at the next meeting at 7.30pm in the Methodist church hall on Queensway on October 9.

Woman died after bruising her leg

A 41-YEAR-OLD Bletchley woman died after a bang on the leg.

An inquest heard how the mother of two became severely ill after banging her leg twice in one day.

Grace Ward, who lived in Waterloo Court, died at Milton Keynes Hospital.

Five days earlier she told her partner, John Duckworth, she had fallen and hurt her leg. She then banged it again while dancing with her family in front of the TV.

Over the next few days a large bruise appeared and her health deteriorated.

Mr Duckworth, who was Miss Ward's partner for three years, said he bought her pain killers but she did not recover.

On Monday, May 21 she became severely ill so he drove her to hospital. Within two hours her heart had stopped and she was confirmed dead at 9.15pm.

Blood clots had formed in her leg and broken off, travelling through the veins to the lungs. Lack of oxygen caused her body to shut down.

Coroner Rodney Corner's recorded a verdict of accidental death.

Westlife

OH look, it's your favourite band, Auntie.

No, not Boyzone. Yes, that Ronan Keating does have a lovely smile, but it's not him. Yes, I'm sure. It's Westlife. No, Westlife. WEST… oh, never mind. You remember them, don't you? We buy you their latest album every Christmas. No, they're not the band that sang The Real Slim Shady – no, they're not. I promise you they aren't. That album was down to a breakdown in communication. What do you mean, you never got round to exchanging it? That means your grandson still has your copy of The Love Album – yes, I know the cover looked nice – yes, I know it did, but just because he was wearing a suit and standing in front of a curtain that doesn't mean he's going to start singing songs from The Great American Songbook. No, don't start on Rod Stewart. I'm not going there – no, I'm not. What's that? Seasons In The Sun? Yes, that's right, that's it, that's Westlife. Ballads and cover versions, yes, that's them all over. Well done. Yes, that's why you like them, you already know half of the songs. Finally, we're getting somewhere. I know this one's nice and slow – I know it is, I'm listening to it with you. I said, I'm listen- what high-pitched singing? No, that's your kettle. Your kettle. It's boiled. Extra singers? That's the choir, Auntie. They always get wheeled into Westlife singles, it's to let you know when the song's nearly done. No, I don't know that for certain. Well, I suppose you could call it a big finish, yes. I think I'd rather call it a change of key. Well, it is. Alright then, we'll agree to disagree. I just think Michael Buble's version is better, that's all. Well, I do. No, I didn't want a cup of tea, you did. I wouldn't say no to a mug of battery acid though, no, not to drink. I was just thinking that if you were going to be dunking Hob-Nobs in your tea, it'd make sense for me to have something to dunk this CD into. Yes, as a matter of fact I have been told I've got appalling taste in music. Many times.

Now drink your tea, it's getting cold.

GIMME MORE
Britney Spears

YEP, I saw her 'performance' at the MTV Awards too.

The main focus of attention seemed to be the state of La Spears, and although she's looked better (look kids, I can do understatement too), I was more surprised by the song. Yeah I know, I'm odd like that, but I'm a music reviewer, what can you do? The simple truth of the matter is that if you want my opinion, and seeing as this is my column I'm hardly going to tell you what my mates think, this isn't actually a bad tune. It's grown-up, it sounds like somebody's been raiding Erasure's Chorus album for the background noises, and she carries the tune nicely. There are, however, down sides. For one thing, it's at the very least a minute too long (which doesn't help the tune as it's pretty repetitive), the parts that Britney apparently phones in are a waste of time and what exactly is she singing about? It sounds an awful lot like she gets her kicks from what the lyrics politely describe as "public displays of affection". That's very polite indeed, as it's made clear that there's a crowd watching. Lovely. Let's just hope this crowd hadn't paid to watch a football match, else you can bet the Match Of The Day highlights would be on YouTube within seconds.

Like I said before, the tune's alright, it's just the rest of it that needs a little work. However, it's nice to report that despite all that, this is one of the best singles she's released to date mind you, when you put it up against songs like Lucky and Overprotected it's always going to be a winner, isn't it? It certainly makes I'm A Slave 4 U look rubbish, but then so does Shaddap You Face. In short then, this song's an encouraging sign, nothing more, nothing less.

DON'T MISS THIS

INTER-ACTION MK is a creative development charity cultivating artistic abilities from the community and bringing arts to life in Milton Keynes.

One of their disability arts programmes is the Groovy Gecko Nightclub - Milton Keynes' first club night run by and for people with learning disabilities. Established over a year ago, the club night offers learning-disabled people a fun and safe social environment to come together and share in an exciting programme of music and live performance.

To date the club has run over four nights a year with workshops running in between.

But since the award of an extraordinary £30,000 grant awarded by the Milton Keynes Community Foundation the lifespan of the club can extended for another year.

Sharon Paulger, Director of Inter-Action MK said: "We are delighted to have received this grant from the Margaret Powell Grants Fund (administered by the MK Community Foundation). The project has been a bigger success than we could have imagined, with over 300 people attending each event. It is really important that Groovy Gecko continues and that learning-disabled people have the opportunity to enjoy a safe and full social life. This grant will enable us to plan for the sustainability of the club and to run some pilot club nights for learning disabled teenagers."

■ The next Groovy Gecko club is on Monday, October 29 at Mood, Central Milton Keynes. For more information go to www.interaction-mk.org.uk

THE PITZ — BOX OFFICE 660392

PINK FRAUD
Thursday September 28

Making a very welcome return to the pitz, this show is breathtaking and a perfect way to celebrate the greatness of Pink Floyd
The Pink Fraud (above) only perform what we consider to be the quintessential, ground breaking floyd, but have too much respect for Syd Barrett to attempt any of his work, so we stick to material from the "middle period".
The show consists of material from Atom Heart Mother, Live at Pompeii, Meddle, and The Wall. The show can also include any two complete albums from either Wish You Were Here, Animals and Dark Side Of The Moon.
Most of the material is performed by the four piece band, just as pink floyd did it themselves in the early seventies. Female vocalists and saxophonists join the band for "Dark Side", although the band still perform without the extra musicians.
Tickets £10.00 Doors 7.30pm.

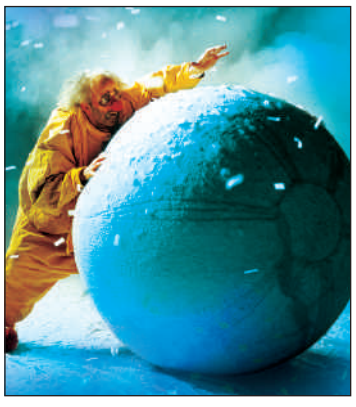
Mel Brooks' hilarious new musical starring Joe Pasquale as Leo Bloom and Russ Abbot as Roger DeBris.



When down-on-his-luck theatrical producer Max Bialystock and his hapless accountant Leo Bloom hatch the ultimate theatrical scam - to raise more money than they need to produce a surefire Broadway disaster and then pocket the left-over cash when the show flops - who do they turn to? The world's worst director, of course: Roger Debris and Springtime for Hitler - the Musical is born.

PIZZAEXPRESS

thecentre:mk
01908 241100

PIZZAExpress has always been a firm favourite of mine.

But this time, I wasn't going for the garlic dough balls and La Reine pizza that I usually order automatically.

We were there to try the limited edition 'Pizza Casilda' (£8.95) that's only available for one more week.

It was developed by a pizza-making rookie, Casilda Grigg, the deputy editor of The Daily Telegraph 'Weekend' supplement.

Made on a thin and crispy Roman base, the Pizza Casilda consists of a creamy tomato base, broad beans, artichokes, fior di latte mozzarella, basil and mint.

When it arrived, spilling over the edges of my plate, I was shocked at how big it was compared to my usual, which has a slightly thicker yet smaller base.

And it was certainly interesting.

Mint is the last thing I would think to put on a pizza, but I'll give full marks for presentation as it looked fantastic alongside the basil.

The sauce was far less tomato-based than I am used to, but the crispy texture of the base was impressive.

As I worked my way through it, I became more accustomed to the unusual taste of the bitter artichoke with the mint and the sweet and very textured beans.

But it did follow an initial sense of disappointment that it wasn't my beloved La Reine, which is topped with a tomato and cream sauce, Prosciutto cotto ham, olives and mushrooms.

Being the creature of habit that I am, we did order the garlic baked dough balls (£2.05) to start, which are the best dough balls around and come highly recommended.

For dessert we had the triple chocolate glory (£4.95) and the cheesecake (£3.95). Both were wolfed down.

The service was faultless.

For each Pizza Casilda sold this month, PizzaExpress will be donating 25p to the Kids Company charity which supports children with severe behavioral, emotional and social difficulties resulting from trauma and neglect.

ART LIFE

MILTON Keynes Gallery is currently playing host to two exciting new exhibitions.

PHOEBE UNWIN: A SHORT WALK FROM A SHOUT TO A WHISPER

22 September–4 November 2007

THIS is the first major exhibition by the British painter.

Unwin's paintings shift between figuration and abstraction.

Throughout her practice, Phoebe Unwin works incessantly in an A3 drawing book, creating a personal register of images and marks. Individual pages are worked up simultaneously creating visual dialogues, some obvious, some obscure as Unwin teases and collages images, shapes and forms from the format of the page and materials at hand in pastel, pencil and acrylic.

This exhibition will be accompanied by an illustrated catalogue with a text by Max Henry.

ALEX FROST: ADULTS

BRITISH artist Alex Frost works in a variety of media.

This exhibition will present a selection of recent sculptures, drawings and mosaic panels. These reflect Frost's interest in the conflation of modern technology, the serial and the multiple with a distinctive hand-made aesthetic.

His work ranges from the minature to the monumental, from intimate decoration to architectural intervention and locates itself in many differing contexts, the space of the studio, the gallery, wastelands, parks and cultural centres.

Frost's Adults are rock-like sculptures, malformed and enlarged versions of food packaging that are at once sophisticated and clumsy.

Ross Burden (left) and Brian Turner (right) helping Ian Morris, chairman of emw law, celebrate the firm's move to new offices in Milton Keynes, aided by Gary Robins, chief executive of Milton-Keynes based private investor syndicator Hotbed Ltd (far right)

Four into one will go

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

CELEBRITY chefs took part in a Ready Steady Cook style event to open a law firm's new offices.

Ready Steady Cook stars Brian Turner and Ross Burden visited emw law's new head quarters in Seebeck Place, Knowlhill and battled it out over a hot stove, each supported by one of emw law's guests.

The event was held to welcome staff, clients and guests officially to emw law's new purpose-built offices, which it occupied last month.

The firm, which previously had four offices in and around Milton Keynes and Northampton, has moved to one main site in order to accommodate its expanding business and consolidate all its operations.

The firm is also celebrating 15 years of growth.

Joy Vollans, chief executive of emw law, said: "We are delighted to have two of the best chefs in the country here to show off their skills in our new on-site cafÈ.

"We thought this would be a fun way to mark the opening of our new offices and celebrate the impressive growth of emw law with our staff, clients and contacts."

"We hope that the cafÈ will become a focal point for the firm where staff can come together informally now that we are all together under one roof, and where we can also hold meetings and other events for clients and contacts."

The firm, which doubled its profits and increased turnover by almost a third to £9.3m last year, sees the move to its new head office as an important step in its evolution.

Joys Vollans added: "emw law has established an enviable position as the pre-eminent commercial law firm in the Midlands and South East region, but we are also strengthening our reputation more widely and increasingly competing for work with the top national firms.

"This move will be a platform for further growth as we drive the business forward."

emw law counts Barclays, Travis Perkins, Virgin Active, Nationwide, HBOS and the Milton Keynes Dons amongst its client list.

Kitchen, bathroom and bedroom range will be on show under one mega roof

SHOPPERS looking to improve their homes will be spoilt for choice when a new showroom opens its doors next month.

Moben, Sharps and Dolphin are combining to open a showroom at Routeco Retail Park in Winterhill.

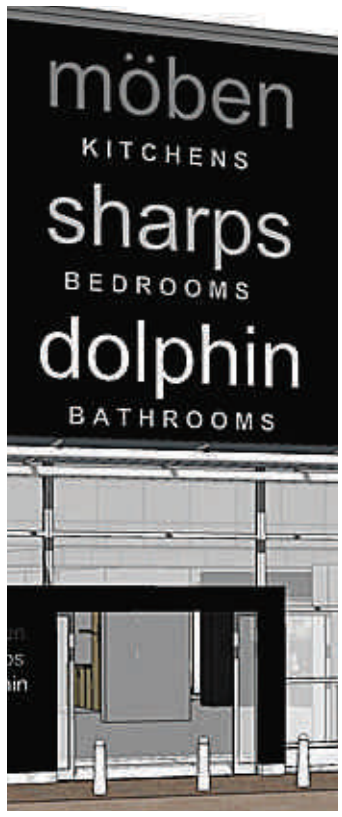
Taking up a massive 6,000 sq ft, it is the first in a series of roll outs of the newly designed 'mega-stores', which have been developed to enable the brands to display a wider selection of their ranges.

The new store will also include 'chill out' areas for stressed shoppers to sit and relax.

Moben, Sharps and Dolphin has signed a 10 year lease on the showroom, which used to house Klaussner Furniture.

Chris Gooding, group marketing director, said: ''The launch of the new format showroom is an exciting development and will give our customers the opportunity to see the very best of Sharps Bedrooms, Moben Kitchens, and Dolphin Bathrooms all under one roof.

"It allows our expert staff to offer practical and inspirational advice in all three specialist areas.



"Milton Keynes is a great shopping destination and we are proud to have become a part of it."

The new showroom is expected to open in October.

Driving towards a better lifestyle

PEOPLE are increasingly choosing agency-driving work as a way to improve their work life balance according to the result of a survey undertaken by Protemp4Logistics, the specialist driver recruitment business with offices in Milton Keynes.

More than 300 agency drivers from the Midlands area took part in the survey and 72 per cent stated that their main reasons for choosing to be an agency driver were because the flexible working meant they could spend more time with their families whilst still earning a good living.

Other key benefits identified by respondents was the variety of contracts and the valuable experience that can be gained by working with different blue chip companies.

Andrew Blakesley, managing director at Protemp4Logistics said: "Agency drivers are free to work the hours that suite their lifestyle and can opt for working at weekends, during the night or doing just a few days a week.

"Many of our drivers are older but not ready to retire yet they enjoy earning the extra money they can use to spoil their grandchildren.

"We are also seeing an increase in younger drivers who choose agency driving to enable them to play a role in helping with their childcare requirements."

According to the survey many drivers have been put off the industry because of the long and unsociable hours often associated with full time driving work and concerns about the growing number of foreign national drivers working here illegally, but have been tempted back as agency drivers.

"This is good news for the area as it means that in many cases fully trained, experienced UK drivers are coming back on the roads bringing with them a wealth of expertise and knowledge.

"To help encourage this we are offering LGV drivers who sign up with Protemp4Logostics a £100 bonus payment (subject to terms and conditions) – anyone who is interested can visit their local branch."

Top tips for going green in the office

RECYCLING is a way of life for many of us.

However, more should be done in the workplace to make things greener according to officebroker.com

Managing director Jim Venables said: "When it comes to going green in the office there are plenty of small, straightforward ideas that all of us can adopt to improve our working environments.

"And we have found that businesses whose employees have embraced environmentally friendly working practices have enjoyed considerable benefits including reduced costs and a closer communicative workforce.

His tips include:

- Turn off computer equipment at end of day
- Switch off any unnecessary lighting.
- Recycle, reduce and re-use waste.
- Use email or notice boards to share information instead of printed memos
- Position desks and workplaces to make best use of natural light.
- Consider turning down the heating down and wearing warmer clothes in the winter
- Use the stairs instead of the lift – it's a great way to get fit too.

Team Leader - Residential

We are looking for a dedicated carer with the skills and experience of working within a care home environment, to help maintain the exceptional standards in our 32-bed home for older people.

You'll need to be able to supervise, lead and develop staff, ensuring the individual needs of our residents are met as defined in our care planning process. Ideally qualified to NVQ Level 2 or equivalent, with experience within a care home environment, as well as managerial experience.

Care Assistants

We want caring and motivated individuals to join our friendly team. Experience is preferred, but is not essential, as training will be given. There are various permanent day, night and day relief shifts available.

Kitchen Assistant/Cook - Evenings

We need someone to help with our residents' meals, and kitchen cleaning. A Food Hygiene certificate and some kitchen experience would be useful but full training will be given.

For more information or to apply, please call Colin Bunyan, Home Manager at Abbotsbury Residential Home, on 01767 313366.

If successful, you must gain enhanced-level disclosure from the Criminal Records Bureau. www.disclosure.gov.uk

Renault's New Laguna – designed for genuine driving pleasure

THE world debut of Renault's New Laguna at next month's Frankfurt Motor Show is looming on the horizon.

With elegant styling, impressive handling and ride comfort, and a wide range of top-level petrol and diesel engines, the lead car of the company's ambitious three-year growth plan, Renault Commitment 2009, promises to cause quite a stir.

Not just in its traditional volume manufacturer hunting ground in the upper-medium segment, but now also taking the challenge to the premium marques too.

One fundamental reason behind Renault's unequivocal belief in the potential of its new model will become immediately apparent when the covers come off on the stand: its quality.

Right from the first initial design stages through to production, the target of New Laguna being in the top three in its segment for product and service quality has been the driving force behind its development.

The emphasis on quality pervades every aspect of the car, from the fit and finish of the high-grade interior materials, right down to the reassuring, precision engineered 'clunk' of the doors as they close.

Other details which have received particular attention to make life on board as serene as possible are the extensive soundproofing to prevent engine and road noise filtering into the cabin, as well as the new quiet air conditioning system developed in conjunction with Nissan.

The current Laguna is already ranked as one of the best cars in its class for reliability, having performed an impressive reversal of fortunes since the first phase of the car was launched in 2001.

In addition to its high level of quality, New Laguna also promises to offer an involving and rewarding drive.

Everything about the new model Laguna has been designed for genuine driving pleasure, combining outstanding ride quality and comfort with top-class handling performance and best-in-class active and passive safety features.

In line with the exceptional level of travelling comfort offered, New Laguna's interior design creates an atmosphere of calm and serenity for all of its occupants.

Preliminary information for the New Laguna range has already been released, however, further insight is available from the preview site, www.insidenewlaguna.com, in the lead-up to its world debut in Frankfurt and its UK launch on October 19, 2007.

PREVIEWS

MORECAMBE
League Two
Friday, September 29. KO 3pm
Christie Park

IT is the first ever meeting between the two sides and could be a potential banana skin for MK Dons.

Morcambe, the new comers of the league, are currently sat in fourteenth place following their draw with Peterborough last weekend.

The Shrimpers have had a steady start to the season and have not lost on the road since the opening day of the season defeat to Wrexham, but they did lose 3-0 to Hereford in their last home game.

Not only have they impressed in the league but they have also embarked on a great Carling Cup campaign with wins over Preston and Wolverhampton as well as a Johnstone's Paint Trophy win at League One table-toppers Tranmere.

The Dons have been boosted by the return of midfielder Luke Howell, who played for an hour in the reserves game on Monday night following a spell on the sidelines.

MANSFIELD TOWN
League Two
Tuesday, October 2. KO 7.45pm
Field Mill

THE second of two away games in four games sees the Dons travel to league strugglers Mansfield Town.

It has been a tough few months for Mansfield fans as they have watched their side slip to five defeats and only picked up four points in seven games.

Midfielder Lee Bell will be back in action for the Stags following his four match ban, but Jake Buxon will miss out as he serves the last of his three match ban.

Dons' keeper Willy Gueret will be looking to keep his fourth clean sheet on the trot with the help of his back line, while the Stags' defenders face the tough task of trying to keep the Dons' strike force quiet.

THE influence of several first-team players could not help MK Dons Reserves as they slipped to a narrow 2-1 defeat to local rivals Northampton Town.

Gareth Edds, Scott Taylor and Luke Howell, on his return from injury, all featured in the Monday night game.

The Dons were dealt an early blow when Ian Henderson score after just three minutes.

Stephane Koffi pulled the Dons back into the game eight minutes later when the young striker latched on to a cross from Gareth Edds to beat the Cobblers keeper.

The game was end-to-end with both sides not holding back on their attack and the Dons had chances to take the lead through Taylor and Howell.

Dons were left to pay for their near misses when sub Joe Benjamin headed the winner for the Cobblers 13 minutes from time.

The reserves play Grays Athletic on Wednesday, October 31.

AFTER being named Man of the Match against Brentford, Dean Lewington has also been named in the League Two Team of the Week: Phillip Barnes (Grimsby), Richard Edghill (Macclesfield), Stephen Hunt (Notts County), Ismail Yakubu (Barnet), Dean Lewington (MK Dons), Carl Baker (Morecambe), Jason Taylor (Stockport), Sammy Moore (Brentford), Clint Easton (Hereford), Lee Thorpe (Brentford), G Ndumbu-Nusungu (Bradford).

THE MK Dons Supporters Association's supporters' team, MKDSA FC, have been accepted into the Internet football Association league.

the teams playing in the league last week held a vote to accept the Dons' application to join.

This Saturday they will take on Undercovered FC (Darlington fans team) in their first ever league match.

Quakers in fear of Dons' attack

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

SOMETIMES you think it is just not going to be your day, perfect passes will fall at your feet but somehow you can't find the back of the net, fouls will be given against you but not for you and luck just seems to have run out. That must have been how MK Dons players were feeling towards the end of their game against Darlington.

But the Dons kept up pressure to the end and Drissa Diallo's header a minute from time gave the side an important three points.

With the Quakers at the top of the table and the Dons the form side in the league, the clash was set to be a mouthwatering tie, but Dave Penny's side disappointed as they lacked their usual attacking edge.

Darlington were undefeated and had only conceded two goals going into the game, but going head to head with the highest scoring club in the Football League was certainly a test for their back line.

The tone of the game was set from the start as the Quakers tried to pin back the home side and played havoc in midfield.

When the Dons did muscle their way through midfield a strong defence stood in the way, Keith Andrews was man-marked throughout which prevented the midfielder from attempting his usual long range efforts. Instead the Dons skipper was forced to adapt and played in clever chips into the box with the hope of turning provider for a game.

Yet it was the set pieces that looked to be the only way through for the Dons, with Jude Stiring's monstrous long throw and Dean Lewington's corners causing panic in the Quakers' box.

While the first half had proved to be a lacklustre affair, the second started quickly for the Dons with Lloyd Dyer, Leon Knight and Diallo all going close.

The frustration on both sides grew and by the letter of the law Alan White should have seen red when he seemed to take a swing at Aaron Wilbraham, but referee Andy D'Urso decided a booking was enough, it was a decision that seemed to anger the home crowd but injected a little extra spice that the game had been missing up to that point.

The added voice of the Cowshed lifted the tempo of the game and even the Quakers looked up for a bit of competition.

Andrews showed his desperation for a goal as he dived in to meet a corner, but ended up lying in the goal receiving treatment for a gash on his mouth.

Just as time appeared to have run out Diallo, who had three close headers, connected with a last minute long-throw from Stirling to seal three vital points which take them within a point of the top of the table.

Ince was clearly frustrated with the Quakers' game plan, he said: "It was a great victory and I think it was fully deserved, in a strange way I think Darlington came here for a draw. They didn't have a shot on target or even look like scoring which is a bit of a shame when you're top of the table, I thought they tried to stifle us which they succeeded in really.

"We never got our passing as we'd like to get it, it was a hard game for us in many different ways."

> They didn't have a shot on target or even look like scoring which is a bit of a shame when you're top of the table

Giant leap for mankind: Leon Knight gets up to win the ball

MATT BAKER WRITES FOR YOU

FORMER Dons 'keeper and Dons World front man Matt Baker steps into Paul Mitchell's shoes for one week only to write exclusively for you.

MATT BAKER

AFTER all the shenanigans at Stamford Bridge this week I started to realise that I had misunderstood the ethos of football. You see, I thought that the whole point was to try and be ahead of the team you're playing against after ninety minutes. Apparently, in the modern game, that just doesn't seem to be enough.

Chelsea may not have had the flair of Arsenal or the attacking dominance of Manchester United but they had a ruthless efficiency that saw them do enough to beat teams when things weren't always going to plan. Despite all Roman's money, the success was certainly down to Jose Mourinho and his players. Thankfully all is rosy in the garden at stadium:mk and Paul Ince and his staff have managed to, so far this season, strike a good balance between entertaining and winning football. It may not have been evident by a couple of errant early season results but, since I have come back to the club, I have seen enough to convince me that the team has enough to compete with the best in this league.

Having watched with interest the last four games, they have all been very entertaining, but also very different performances.

A crazy two-minute spell spoilt what was a superb performance at Rochdale. Notts County didn't really trouble a rampant Dons and Brentford didn't seem to know how to handle a very efficient and pacey display.

Saturday's victory over table-toppers Darlington showed a different side to recent performances. A gritty, patient and determined showing was rewarded in dramatic style by a magnificent Drissa Diallo header. You don't get much more pulsating than an 89th minute winner.

Morecambe may be the newcomers to League Two and Christie Park is an awkward ground with a superb atmosphere but I'm sure the Dons will muster the required performance.

Believe me, come 4.45pm, a victory will be all that matters.

BASKETBALL

Lions' new boy impresses

LONDON CAPITAL 94
(Miller 47, Cadogan 16, Ataha 12)
MK LIONS 115
(Williams 26, Windless 21, Jamison 14)

IT was a winning start in the British Basketball League for MK Lions as they eased to a 115-94 victory over London Capital.

The new boys of the league were given a tough introduction as the Lions dominated proceedings throughout and Capital struggled to keep up.

Veteran Shawn Jamision opened the scoring for a quick out of the box Lions side before Peter Heizer added points from behind the arch to give Lions a 8-0 lead in the opening moments.

But with former England legend Steve Bucknell as their coach, Capital were always likely to grab their own points and it was Wes Miller who got the ball rolling as he netted the first 11 points for the home side, yet the Lions were leading 30-13 at the end of the first quarter.

On the restart Terrell Brown posted more points and the Lions started to build a commanding advantage, but it was Capital's Miller who stood out as he kept his side 22 points behind at the half.

Lions' coach Vince Macaulay decided half-time was the right point to introduce new signing Yorick Williams which proved to be a good move as he nailed 26 points in 19 minutes of action before Kevin Griffin landed a three-pointer to take the score to 64-94.

The final quarter saw both sides given chances to add to their scores from the free throw line, Mike New and Williams netted all their chances and Peter Heizer rounded off the Lions' dominant display with the last basket of the game.

Considering the inspirational Robert Youngblood and Ronnie Baker both sat out of the game, while Dru Spinks withdrew with a tight hamstring after four minutes, it was an impressive start to the season for the Lions.

Macauley was happy to see his side open with a win that takes them into third place, he said: "We just needed to win our first game whoever it was against.

"There were a lot of fouls and free throws and this might have been the longest game I have been involved in that did not go to overtime."

■ The Lions will host Worcester Wolves on Friday night at Bletchley Leisure Centre for their first home game this season. Tip-off is at 7.30pm.

RUGBY

Missed kicks see Bletchley blow it

BLETCHLEY were left to rue missed kicks as they narrowly lost 21-19 to Chippenham in the West Two east Division.

Early pressure from Bletchley saw top of the table Chippenham concede several penalties in the first half, but a few misses meant Bletchley never fully extended their lead.

But just before the break a winning line out and a driving maul saw Bletchley grabbed their first try of the game with Tom Hannell emerging as the man with the ball and they went in at half time with an 11-3 lead.

At the restart Chippenham upped their game and quickly pulled the scores even before getting a converted try to edge ahead in the game.

In reply prop Hannell scored an identical try to his first and Bletchley were rewarded a last minute penalty to win the game, but they missed out as the kick sailed wide.

OLNEY claimed the bragging rights from their Southern Counties North local derby as they powered their way passed Milton Keynes with a 22-3 win.

A strong defensive display from Olney kept the scores even at 0-0 at the break, but Olney dominated the second half by running in four tries to take the game away from MK.

The scoreline could have been heavier with three missed penalties from Olney, Mike Dean grabbed the only score for MK.

Olney stay top while MK move to sixth place in the table.

ICE HOCKEY

Lightning show character

TWO battling matches saw MK Lightning get their league campaign off to a winning start, but they left it late in their game against Sheffield Scimitars to secure the victory.

A slow starting Lightning side were punished early in their first game as Rob Dowd squeezed the puck past net-minder Barry Hollyhead to give Sheffield the lead in the opening minute.

Within a minute Ross Bowers paired up well with Nick Poole to pull Lightning level and the game continued at a frantic pace as both teams exchanged goals but it was Sheffield who were leading 3-2 at the end of the first period.

Despite having plenty of power plays in the second period Lightning were unable to make an addition to the score.

It was the final period that had all the drama as Sheffield extended their lead to 4-2 and it looked like there was no way back for Lightning.

Yet the side kept up their chase with Michael 'Muzzy' Wales grabbing two goals to make honours even with five minutes remaining and in the dying moments Adam Radmall set up a swift move to Poole who allowed Gary Clarke to net the winner in a thrilling climax to the game.

Picture by JEZ TIBBETTS

The second game did not provide the same excitement despite it being against defending champions Bracknell Bees.

Clarke opened the scoring for Lightning with ten minutes on the clock following early chances for both sides, despite the Bees stepping up their game, Lightning continued to lead at the break.

It took 35 minutes for the Bees to register their only goal of the evening with a missed pass being picked up by Kanka who fired his side back on level terms.

Again Lightning left it late to seal the win this time Bowers scored from close range to take the scores to 2-1 and were left to defend their score for the final five minutes to secure the win.

Seeing his side beat two strong opponents late in games impressed coach Poole, he said: "Both games were real tight affairs against very solid teams. Saturday's win was a real crowd pleaser and to come from behind in the final 20 minutes to win 5-4 shows character."

We don't give tuppence for Penny's thoughts

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

JUDE Stirling has slammed Darlington manager Dave Penny for criticising MK Dons' style of play in their weekend fixture.

The Dons ended the Quakers' unbeaten run when Drissa Diallo latched on to a long throw from Stirling on the 89th minute to net the only goal in the game.

Penny saw his side's chances limited in the game, with only one real effort at goal and was clearly disappointed to see their unbeaten grind to a halt at stadium:mk, he said: "I don't think there was much between the two sides but we had 355 long throw-ins to deal with. When you defend that many throw-ins they are bound to win one or two."

But utility man Stirling believes the Dons outplayed their visitors throughout the game and deserved the late winner.

Stirling said: "He's just trying to get into our heads, trying to make it seem as though a long-throw is all we've got.

"We've beaten teams like Brentford and Sheffield United with football and not just throw-ins.

"He can say what he likes, throw-ins are part of the game just as set pieces are and if he can't take that then that's life."

Although the Quakers never looked threatening upfront, the Dons were aware that with the scores level any mistake could cost them a vital three points and Diallo's first goal for the Dons was warmly received.

Stirling said: "Darlington didn't have many chances but they could have nicked that game 1-0, which I'm sure over the course of the season we're going to get one or two results where we out-play a team and they might nick a goal. We've got to be resilient at the back, which we are, and clinical up front."

The 25-year-old has a new attacking mindset which is helping him enjoying his right midfield role and believes the support the club are receiving is helping get the best out of the players.

He said: "It was always exciting times going into the stadium and you can't forget the supporters.

"We had some bad games last year, times when supporters would have been well within their rights to voice concerns but they've been right behind us all the time and I think all the players want to repay them for all their hard work and support."

At the same Stirling also believes the players still have plenty of room for improvement and has warned they can not afford to get complacent.

"We want to improve all aspects of a game," Stirling added, "We know if we play well as individuals it should come out in a good team performance.

"I believe we can go up this year but we can't just turn up and say 'we're MK Dons, we're going to win it' we'll have to grind out results because there's going to be a lot of tough games to come."

stadium:mk set to host England U21 v Bulgaria

ENGLAND Under-21s will play their 2009 UEFA European Championship qualifier against Bulgaria at stadium:mk.

MK NEWS exclusively revealed the Football Association had short-listed the MK Dons stadium as a possible venue earlier this month and the date has now been officially confirmed as Friday, November 16 with kick-off at 6pm.

A host of the U21 stars are already first team regulars in the Premiership with the likes of Newcastle defender and U21 captain Steven Taylor, Tottenham powerhouse Tom Huddlestone and Aston Villa's Gabriel Agbonlahor all set to feature.

Back-to-back wins in Montenegro and Bulgaria has seen Stuart Pearce's side start their Euro 2009 qualifiers in terrific style and they will play Montenegro and Republic of Ireland in their next two games before heading to MK.

U21 coach Pearce said: "We are looking forward to playing at the impressive new stadium in Milton Keynes in what will be an important qualifier.

"It's an excellent opportunity to take England around the country with the U21 team and I hope people in the area will turn out in big numbers to support us."

Adult tickets for the game will cost £10 for adults and £5 concessions, while tickets for disabled supporters are priced at £5 and carers will be admitted free of charge.

Tickets are on sale now from the Ticket Hotline 01908 622900 or you can buy them in person from the ticket office at stadium:mk.
